

PREPARED FOR LOUISE LONERGAN, LONERGAN GROUP

Get your team running a LinkedIn agent that brings new business in

One thing, done properly: getting you and your team running a LinkedIn outbound agent that finds the right new buyers, researches each one, and writes to them in your voice. I set it up and train your team to run it at no charge. The only cost is your own software. This is what it does and how it would go.

Quality first, then automate

IRELAND'S MARKETER OF THE YEAR, 2022

Before I build anything, I ask one question: what does really good look like here? Not what AI can do, but the best version of this marketing, and the level of quality I would want to stand over.

So I start where I always have. If there were no AI at all, what would it take to do this properly? For what you need most, which is new business, it would take someone whose whole job is finding the right companies, working out who to talk to, and writing to each of them well enough that it does not read like a mailshot. I map that role first, then build exactly it, with an agent instead of a hire.

Twenty years in brand is what tells me where the bar sits: Head of Brand at 02 Ireland, then CMO at the National Lottery, Head of Brand at Indeed and Miro, both global roles. Positioning, messaging and tone are written first, then built into everything the agent makes, the same care you put into your own work applied to the outreach.

WHO I WORK WITH

Moloco

Heineken

Norcros

Alltech

Smurfit

Hostelworld

Eaton Square

Weatherbys

"His command of marketing science as well as his instincts for great thinking and ideas are, in my opinion, superb."

Peter Field · The Godfather of Effectiveness, author of The Long and the Short of It

"Paul reported into me as Head of Brand when I was at Indeed. I have learned more from him than anyone else in my career."

Paul D'Arcy · CMO, Moloco. Former CMO at Miro and Indeed

Getting new business in the door

This comes from our conversation. Lonergan Group is well established, your clients stay with you, and you are trusted by names most companies would want on their list. The gap is not the product or the service, it is that not enough new people know you are there. As you put it, you need people to know you exist. So this proposal does one thing and does it properly: it gets you and your team running a LinkedIn outbound agent, the quickest way to put new enquiries into the weeks between now and Christmas, which is your biggest window of the year.

-
- 01 Your messaging framework. First I spend around 90 minutes with you capturing how Lonergan is described, sold and positioned: what you do that the promotional houses do not, who your best buyers are, and the quality and service that keep your clients. This becomes a short framework, the standard the agent writes from, so everything it sends sounds like you.
-
- 02 The LinkedIn Outbound Agent. This is the one thing we focus on. It finds the right people at companies across Ireland and the UK, the heads of HR and people, office and facilities managers, and the marketing and procurement people who buy gifts, works out which companies look like buyers now, researches each one, and writes a message that could only have been sent to them. You read every message before anything goes out. It runs on your own tools, and after our session your team runs it without me.
-
- 03 What comes later, only when you are ready. Once it is running and Christmas is behind you, the same setup adds the rest, one piece at a time: email alongside LinkedIn, a copywriter for the quotes and proposals Ava puts together, a search agent to replace the SEO that fell away, and in time a website you control. None of that is part of the training. It is where the first step leads.
-

What the LinkedIn agent does

THE JOB IT DOES

The LinkedIn Outbound Agent

Outbound is a job a person does. Someone has to work out which companies are worth approaching, find the right person inside each one, learn enough about that company to have something worth saying, and then write to that person properly. Done across hundreds of companies, that has traditionally meant a full-time hire, an agency, or a freelancer, and the work usually collapses into a template with a few details swapped in. The agent does that whole job, and it writes every message on its own.

Your buyers are the people who look after staff and offices: heads of HR and people, office and facilities managers, and the marketing and procurement people who order branded gifts, in companies across Ireland and the UK. The agent finds those people, works out which companies look like buyers now (a company growing its headcount needs more service awards, a newly appointed head of people is reviewing how staff are recognised, a company approaching an anniversary or the Christmas season is about to order gifts), and researches each company and person before writing. Every message is written from that research, so it could only have been sent to them.

Runs on: your own Claude Code, HeyReach, LinkedIn Premium and Apify. It stops for you at three points: the companies and people it chooses, the messages it writes, and before anything sends.

WHY IT STAYS GOOD

It writes in your voice, not in generic AI

Most AI outreach reads as generic because nothing has told it who you are. The 90 minutes I spend with you first fixes that. Your positioning, your quality and service, and what makes Lonergan different from the promotional houses all go into the framework the agent writes from, so what it sends sounds like you rather than like a machine. If an opening could have been sent to anyone, it is rejected and rewritten.

You stay in control the whole way. You approve which companies and people it writes to, you read every message before it loads, and you start the campaign. Nothing is sent until you say so, and it sends within safe daily limits so your LinkedIn account stays healthy. This is the part your team learns to run in the session.

What I would do, and what it costs you

You said the budget is tight and what you need is cash in before Christmas, so this is built to get you moving without a bill from me. I would set the agent up and train your team to run it, at no charge. The only thing you pay for is the software, which is yours and stays in your name. Here is exactly how it would go.

-
- 01 Before we meet, I set it up. I spend around 90 minutes with you capturing how Lonergan is described, sold and positioned, turn it into your messaging framework, then build the agent and connect it to your tools so it is ready to run. A few hours of my time, before the session.
-
- 02 A two hour session with your team. With you, Ava and your new digital marketing intern. We build and run your first real LinkedIn campaign together, live, so that by the end messages are going out and your team knows how to do it again on their own. In person if it suits, since Celbridge is not far.
-
- 03 After, your team runs it. From then on they run it without me. I am on the end of an email if anyone gets stuck. When Christmas is behind you and there is room to build the rest, we pick it up from there.
-

WHAT IT COSTS YOU

Nothing for my time. I am doing the setup and the training at no charge. I would rather help you get this working now, and if it does, build the fuller system with you when the budget allows.

THE TOOLS YOU WOULD NEED

Four subscriptions, in your name. Claude Code, about €100 a month, is what runs the agent, but it is also the tool you and your team will use for a lot more than this, from writing and quotes to the other agents when you come to build them, so it earns its keep well beyond the outreach. The other three are specific to the LinkedIn work: HeyReach for the sending (79 dollars a month, about €75), LinkedIn Premium (about €70 a month), and Apify for finding the right people (about €40 a month). In the region of €285 a month all in, and set against hiring someone to do this work it is small.

Have a look, then let me know what you think

No rush at all, especially while you are away. When you are back and rested, send me any questions or grab a time and we will get you set up. Book at cal.com/paul-dervan-mjfd50, or email me at paul@runwithfoxes.com.